

attractive–mixed–repulsive (AMR) classification

A classification of potential-energy surfaces in which a highly attractive surface is at one extreme and a highly repulsive surface is at the other. The energy release in intermediate cases is referred to as mixed.

1996, 68, 153