

biochip

An integrated circuit whose electrical and logical functions are performed by protein molecules appropriately manipulated.

1992, 64, 148