

concentration-sensitive detector (in chromatography)

A device the response of which is proportional to the concentration of a sample component in the eluent.

1993, 65, 849