

continuous-flow cell (in spectrochemical analysis)

A cell which allows liquid (or gaseous) samples to pass through the cell continuously while absorption measurements are made.

1988, 60, 1454