

desorption (by displacement)

The process in which expulsion of a previously adsorbed component from the interfacial layer is effected by subsequent stronger adsorption of another component.

1972, 31, 585