

diffusionless transition

A transition that does not involve long-range diffusion of atomic species over distances significantly greater than a typical interatomic distance.

1994, 66, 581