

direct amplification

A type of amplification reaction, where the constituent to be determined is amplified directly and it is this constituent which is finally measured.

1982, 54, 2555