

dye laser

A CW or pulsed source of coherent radiation in which the active medium is usually a solution of a fluorescent organic molecule (the dye) pumped with a suitable pump laser or with a flash lamp. These lasers can be tuned over a large part of the fluorescence band of the dye.

1996, 68, 2237