

electrochemical detector (in gas chromatography)

An electrochemical cell which responds to certain substances in the carrier gas eluting from the column. The electrochemical process may be an oxidation, reduction or a change in conductivity.

1990, 62, 2191