

electronically excited state

A state of an atom or molecular entity which has greater electronic energy than the ground state of the same entity.

1996, 68, 2238