

enantiomeric units (in a polymer)

Two configurational units that correspond to the same constitutional unit are considered to be enantiomeric if they are non-superposable mirror images.

P.B. 27