

energy resolution (in radiochemistry)

A measurement, at given energy, of the smallest difference between the energies of two particles or photons capable of being distinguished by a radiation spectrometer.

1994, 66, 2519