

enhanced phosphorescence analysis (in molecular luminescence spectroscopy)

A use of luminescence quenching effects to enhance sensitivity. The strong depopulation of the fluorescing singlet excited state by external heavy atom perturbers can lead to a large population of the phosphorescing triplet excited state.

1984, 56, 235