

exit channel

This expression refers to the region of a potential-energy surface or hypersurface that corresponds to molecular configurations that are closer to those of the products than to those of the reactants.

1996, 68, 165