

exfoliation

Process by which thin layers individually separate from a multilayered structure.

Note:

In the context of a nanocomposite material, the individual layers are of the order of at most a few nanometers in thickness.

2004, 76, 1991