

flux depression

The lowering of the particle (or photon) flux density in the neighbourhood of an object due to absorption of particles (or photons) in the object.

1994, 66, 2519