

gated photochromism

Special form of photochromism in which one or both forms of a photochromic system are transformed reversibly, either chemically or electrochemically, into a non-photochromic form.

2007, 79, 347