

hydrocracking unit

Used in the thermal decomposition of heavy (high molecular weight) hydrocarbons to smaller (low molecular weight) hydrocarbons; high pressures of hydrogen and a special catalyst are employed. Sulfur compounds in the fuel are reduced to H₂S, and the final hydrocarbon product can be obtained relatively sulfur-free.

1990, 62, 2195