

interstitial velocity (in chromatography)

The linear velocity of the mobile phase inside a packed column calculated as the average over the entire cross section. This quantity can, under idealized conditions, be calculated from the equation:

$$u = F/\varepsilon_1$$

where  $F$  is the nominal linear flow and  $\varepsilon_1$  the interstitial fraction.

O.B. 102