

ion scattering spectrometry (ISS)

Any technique using low energy (10 keV) ions in which the bombarding particles scattered by the sample are detected and recorded as a function of energy and/or angle. This technique is used mainly for determining the composition and structure of the first few atomic layers of a sample.

1979, 51, 2246