

isoionic

A macro-ion of a polyampholyte (in particular a protein) is said to be isoionic if besides the polyampholyte and  $\text{H}^+$  or  $\text{OH}^-$  ions (in general ions of the solvent) no other ions are present in the system.

1972, 31, 618