

maximum tolerable exposure level (MTEL)

Maximum amount or concentration of a substance to which an organism can be exposed without leading to an adverse effect after prolonged exposure time.

1993, 65, 2068