

metastable ion (in mass spectrometry)

An ion which is formed with sufficient excitation to dissociate spontaneously during its flight from the ion source to the detector.

1991, 63, 1549