

polycyclic system

A molecular system regarded as containing a number of rings equal to the number of scissions required to convert it into an open-chain compound.

B.B. 33