

proportional counter tube

A counter tube operated under such conditions that the magnitude of each pulse is proportional to the amount of energy deposited in it.

1982, 54, 1538