

pyroelectric detector

A detector (based on the temperature dependence of ferroelectricity in some crystals) which produces an electrical signal proportional to the energy flux on the collector surface.

O.B. 193; see also 1995, 67, 1752