

phase II reaction (of biotransformation)

Binding of a substance, or its metabolites from a phase I reaction, with endogenous molecules (conjugation), making more water-soluble derivatives that may be excreted in the urine or bile.

2004, 76, 1064