

ratemeter (in radiochemistry)

An electronic sub-assembly which gives a continuous indication proportional to the average counting rate over a predetermined time interval (time constant).

1982, 54, 1550