

sample handling (in analysis)

Any action applied to the sample before the analytical procedure. Such actions include the addition of preservatives, separation procedures, storage at low temperature, protection against light and irradiation, loading, etc.

1989, 61, 1661