

soap

A salt of a fatty acid, saturated or unsaturated, containing at least eight carbon atoms or a mixture of such salts.

A neat soap is a lamellar structure containing much (e.g. 75%) soap and little (e.g. 25%) water.

1972, 31, 612