

stereoconvergence

The predominant formation of the same stereoisomer or stereoisomer mixture of a reaction product when two different stereoisomers of the reactant are used in the same reaction. When that product involved in the reaction is one enantiomer the result has been called enantioconvergence.

1996, 68, 2218